FOR VICE PRESIDENT. GEN. FRANK P. BLAIR,

THE two Houses of the Tennessee Legislature bave agreed on the bills which they were called together to pass. We publish them as sent to the Governor for his signature. No apology is necessary for their large exclusion of other matter. If they can be made to prevail, all else is worthless. The mind rools and staggers in amazement at their contemplation. In their unparalled assumption of power, they must break down before that degree of popular indiguation which in all ages has unsettled kingdoms and changed the historic current of the mightiest nations. The military bill lays violent bands upon that great achievement of centuries-that pillar of our Constitution which forbids standing armies in times of peace. It makes it legal for a Governor, who may have a discontented and seditious band of followers in any county, to inaugurate bloodshed and revolution in defiance of the vast num ber who support and uphold the State It draws the blade of revolution across those costly pages written on the bloody plains of England in the the seventeerth century, and raised to the highest standard of human excellence in the American revolution of the eighteenth. It gives that functionary the power, almost Like Banquo's ghest it will never down, at will, to suspend the habeas corpus, the only barrier between the passion of the ruler and the enslavement and even death of the subject. It makes taxes unequal in the Commonwealth, and finally, at his high behest, it levels at a blowthe barrier of common interest inside which all good citizens could meet to promote the glory of the State, and incites those feelings of antagonism which will outlive the present generation.

The bill for the suppression of the Kuklux Klan is a stab at civilization. If it could be enforced, it would destroy the public peace." all government and end the hopes and aspirations of men. As the culmination of passion and brutal malignity, it towers above the fragmentary history of Herod and of Nero. In abandonment by day or by night, disguised or otherwise, of the low virtue of self-love, which generates a fear of retribution, it is only equaled by the South Sea Islander, who than the hundred dollars, imprisoned in the eats his own offspring; and in that high | penitentiary not less than live years, and daring which is the sout of depravity, its authors have dreamed of power while sitting on the necks of men, until

This bill attempts to bring every citizen to the low level of the Tennessee officer. It clothes every man with constabulary power, and attempts the impossible thing of bringing them to use their equality of authority in each state, or Grand Juries, or either of them, to summon or cause to be summoned, any stabulary power, and attempts the imother's arrest. It offers a high premium to summon or cause to be summoned, any person he shall have a well grounded being for false swearing, suborns the ends of has any knowledge of such organization as all lawlessness, and is a final affront to send if any person shall call or refuse to human virtue. It gives the citizen, o sy such summons, or shall appear and rewithout adequate restraint, the right to slay his fellow, and in defiance of the fundamental law of the State and Union, shall avoid the service of such subponta or sommons, the Sherid or other officer, shall makes its own "power retro active. It gives to one county officer the right to collect by summary means large amounts | person south to be summened; and if such from another county; it clothes the Attorney General, under the stimulus of the stim of five hunared dollars, upon pecuniary gains to himself, with the power of proceeding against any one in response to his own suspicion, and to molest by prosecution the traveller as his way across the Commonwealth; it even claims the citizens of every country on the globe as amountle to his process, The bill was passed to provoke revolution. It has violence and treachery for at every term, for two years from sad atits means and bloodshed for its ends, and has been passed with the depraved and to have this set read or explained to sustained, which shall be paid to the injuriant to the Presidency in them; and the court shall ask said officers in they shall have any knowledge of any the laws of descent or the same then of in defiance of the soher popular will.
